

Opera saved by NZ Extract's Oxifend® Throatsoothers

While on a flight from Valencia, Spain to London, England, professional Spanish opera singer Antonio Perez-Iranzo was studying the score for La Traviata which he would be performing that evening. However, the effect of flying, the number of singing engagements he had just completed and the beginnings of a cold had all taken their toll and Antonio's throat was sore enough to concern him that he wouldn't be able to sing.

However, he was lucky enough to be seated next to a passenger who offered him some of NZ Extract's Oxifend® Throatsoothers. After using these his throat improved to such an extent that he was able to perform La Traviata that evening after all.

On his return to Valencia Antonio contacted us at NZ Extracts to find out how he could get more Throatsoothers to maintain a healthy throat for his singing. We immediately agreed to send a free supply to ensure he can keep singing as good as ever.

When not singing in operas Antonio is an Intensive Care Pediatrician and he values the science that supports Oxifend® Throatsoothers as being antibacterial and anti-inflammatory. And he has proven that they work!

"Throatsoothers relieved my sore throat and I was able to sing" - Antonio Perez-Iranzo

Professional Opera Singer and Intensive Care Pediatrician

To listen to Antonio perform in La Traviata please click on the following You Tube

<http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=orBZXpsUke8>